About the Azrieli Music Prizes

Created in 2014 by Sharon Azrieli CQ for the Azrieli Foundation, the Azrieli Music Prizes (AMP) offer opportunities for the discovery, creation, performance and celebration of excellence in music composition. Open to the international music community, AMP accepts nominations for works from individuals and institutions of all ages, nationalities, faiths and genders, which are then submitted to its expert juries through an open call for scores and proposals.

Objectives

The key objectives of the Azrieli Music Prizes are to:

- encourage excellence in music composition, recognizing and rewarding composers who create innovative and high-quality musical works;
- promote contemporary concert music, supporting the development and performance of new works on an international scale;
- advance Jewish music, celebrating and expanding the global repertoire through the Azrieli Prize for Jewish Music and the Azrieli Commission for Jewish Music;
- support Canadian music, uplifting the contributions of composers in Canada through the Azrieli Commission for Canadian Music;
- broaden the global concert music repertoire, supporting works that exhibit excellence, creativity and cultural significance through the Azrieli Commission for International Music; and
- enhance public engagement with music resulting from AMP, ensuring the winning works are performed, recorded and distributed widely to diverse audiences.

About the Performance Fund

The Azrieli Music Prizes Performance Fund (AMP-PF) supports professional Canadian music ensembles and organizations in preparing and presenting excellent public performances of AMP-winning works in Canada and abroad.

Ensembles/organizations may request related support up to $35,000 CAD to help cover the costs of:

- artist fees;
- augmented promotion;
- attendance of AMP Laureate(s) at the rehearsals and the concert(s) of their winning work;
- score and parts rental;
- instrument rental;
- touring nationally and internationally;
- additional rehearsal time required to prepare AMP-winning work(s) (restricted to artist fees, score and parts rental, instrument rental and venue costs related to the extra rehearsals only). General venue rental costs are not eligible.

AMP-PF Funds are allocated on an annual basis to deserving music ensembles and organizations through a competitive selection process. Funding requests must not exceed 50% of the total project budget.

Eligibility

To be eligible for AMP-PF support, an ensemble/organization must:

- be a Canadian registered charity in good standing;
- retain professional artistic and administrative leadership and hire professional musicians;

Ensemble/Organization Commitments

An ensemble/organization that receives AMP-PF support agrees to:

- rehearse and perform the work(s) to world class professional standards;
- acknowledge the Azrieli Music, Arts and Culture Centre (AMACC) with text and/or logo placement in concert programme(s) and in all other print and digital materials related to the AMP-PF supported project;
- include a special statement in concert house programme(s) recognizing the Azrieli Music Prizes Performance Fund;
- maintain open, timely and professional communication with AMACC concerning the execution of the supported project; and
- provide a final report to AMACC following completion of the project, including:
 - a letter recognizing the Azrieli Foundation's support through AMP-PF;
 - a brief financial report indicating how the AMP-PF contribution was spent and what impact it had on the project;
 - documentation, including but not limited to house programme(s), photos and media reviews; and
 - a one-page reflective statement on how the project helped meet AMP objectives.

Some Considerations for Successful Submission

In addition to the guidelines and requirements stated above, The Azrieli Music Prizes Advisory Council has provided the following considerations to help shape a more successful submission.

- Don't worry about how 'Jewish', 'Canadian' or 'International' your programming is or is not. Ensembles/ organizations from all nationalities, faiths, backgrounds and communities are equally welcome to apply. In fact, one of AMACC's hopes for AMP is to generate productive intercultural understandings through a rich consideration of what Jewish, Canadian or International music are and can be.
- A successful proposal must be conceptually and musically balanced. Strong, musical examples accompanied by an insubstantial and/or ill-conceived proposal will not succeed within the competition. The inverse is also true: a strong proposal will not compensate for weak musical examples. The two must go hand-in-hand.
- It is preferred that AMP-winning works be programmed alongside other works from the 20th and 21st Century concert repertoire. That said, compelling proposals for programming alongside earlier works will be considered.
- Please note that the quality of the support documents greatly affects the ability to evaluate a proposal. Please ensure that submitted recordings are as clear and undistorted as possible and that print materials are clean and legible. If the reproduction quality is so low that it is difficult to ascertain the product, then this will impact the Council's evaluation.
- Please be certain that submitted written materials and musical examples demonstrate your ensemble's/ organization's ability to undertake the preparation and performance of one or more of the AMP-winning works to world class industry standards. AMP seeks to support ensembles/organizations that will showcase these works at the same level of excellence we expect of our Laureates.

Review Process and Criteria

Once received, proposals are registered and screened by AMACC staff for eligibility and completeness. The proposals that pass this screening are delivered to the AMP Advisory Council as qualified submissions. The Council will evaluate qualified submissions for their fit and relevancy to the objectives of AMP and the purpose of the Performance Fund. The Council will review and grade the submissions using the following three main criteria: Artistic Merit, Thematic Fit and Capacity. These criteria are separately weighted based on their level of importance to arrive at a score out of 100 for each evaluated submission.

Artistic Merit (50 points)

This is the most important criterion the Council applies in evaluating each submission. It is directly tied to the ensemble's/organization's proven ability to program and perform new concert music at the highest artistic standards. The Council will determine:

- the level of creativity and distinctiveness displayed in the ensemble's/organization's programming;
- the ensemble's/organization's capacity to generate high-quality professional performances and/or successful touring activity; and
- the ability of the submitted musical examples to sustain a listener's attention over their entire length.

Thematic Fit (30 points)

The Council will evaluate whether the qualified submission:

- proposes a relevant thematic fit to the objectives of the Azrieli Music Prizes;
- presents one or more of the AMP-winning works in the best way imaginable, in accordance with world class professional standards;
- offers an authentic expression of the ensemble's/organization's current and past programming; and
- produces productive intercultural understandings through a rich consideration of what Jewish, Canadian and/or International music is and can be.

Capacity (20 points)

The Council will evaluate the qualified submissions based on the ensemble's/organization's ability to execute its project as proposed.

Can the proposed concert or tour be realistically and successfully achieved? Does the ensemble/organization demonstrate enough previous experience to assure the Council that it will deliver on its proposal on time and on budget? Has the ensemble's/organization's leadership allocated adequate resources to meet the expected standard of achievement?

Those proposals for which the Council can answer these questions in the affirmative will advance in the competition.

All decisions made by the AMP Advisory Council are final and non-negotiable. There is no appeal process.

Notification

The AMP Advisory Council anticipates making decisions concerning which ensembles/organizations will receive AMP-PF support approximately two months after the submission deadline (i.e. by September 3, 2026). Successful applicants will be notified by AMACC staff via email with an AMP-PF funding agreement (in writing) to follow 3-4 weeks later. All other applicants will receive a notification letter at the same time. Successful applicants must agree to comply with all requirements outlined in the AMP-PF Guidelines.

Feedback

The Council eagerly welcomes feedback on how to improve the AMP-PF proposal, evaluation, notification and implementation processes. Feedback may be sent by email to music@azrielifoundation.org with the subject line "AMP-PF Feedback".
